

Requests for adaptive equipment require a letter of recommendation from a licensed professional. The recommendation cannot come from the person or business providing the equipment. The letter must include the license number of the professional, and clearly answer the following questions:

- What is the specific diagnosis?
- Why is this equipment being recommended?